

British Training for American Retrievers (Paperback)

By Vic Barlow

WILLOW CREEK PR, 2003. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 226 x 150 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. There has long been a disconnect between the retriever training methods in the United Kingdom and in North America. British Retriever Trials are primarily a test of the dog's skill as a game finder, while American Field Trials are a test of the handling techniques of the owner. The Brits teach their dogs to find every bird, while American handlers are training for an event in which tracking cripples plays no part. The British manner, for many American and Canadian hunters, makes more sense to them on a day-to-day basis because its aim is to produce a finished gun dog who is steady, quiet, and reliable in the field. Vic Barlow is the UK Correspondent for The Retriever Journal, but he is in the States more than he is at home. And there's a good reason for it: He keeps getting called back by people who appreciate the way he trains people to turn dogs into steady, reliable, and companionable field performers. Barlow's methods are built on common sense because they train for the situations your dog will see...
