Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from An Address on Success in Business, Delivered Before the Students of Packard s Bryant Stratton New York Business College This is as far as I have dared to proceed, upon my own responsibility; but, judging from the liberality you have already shown, I have encouraged my friends to hope that you would permit me to put the address in an enduring form, that it may be accessible to the large army of young men throughout the country who desire nothing so much as that some one, wise enough, shall point out to them a sure path to Success in Business. In preferring this request, I desire, most heartily, to thank you, on behalf of the earnest men of our specialty who so thoroughly appreciate your character, and who honor you from their hearts for the noble recognition you have given to our labors. If the representative men of the country would, like yourself, occasionally turn aside from the grand schemes of speculative philosophy, and put themselves in more immediate contact with the busy world, the more humble but not less earnest workers in the field of human benefaction would be encouraged and inspired to lines of duty and achievements worthy of the highest recognition; and many an honest effort, which now, from lack of such encouragement, degenerates into weak subterfuges for public favor, would be felt in the great volume of human progress, which, in spite of narrow-mindedness and corruption, in spite of calumny, detraction, and all manner of evil, will, in God s good time, lead to the highest development and the greatest happiness of our race.
